LIFE OF ALEX, H. STEPHENS.-We have received from the National Publishing Co., of Cincinnati, advance sheets of a work that we think, from the importance of the subject, the elegance of style, and urity of diction displayed in the pages before us, is destined to meet with a success that will astonish both the author and the publishers. We knew little before of the early career of that gifted states-purpose that have placed him among the emost statesmen of the age. We shall look anxiously for the volume, which the publishers inform us will soon be issued. The volume will comprise about 800 pages. The book will not be offered for sale in

Match Between Goldthwaite and McDevitt---Goldthwaite the Winner by 363 Points.

BILLIARDS.

The return match between Wm. Goldth-waite, of Boston, and John McDevitt, of this city, for $500 a side, came off last night at Irving Hall, before a large audi-ence, comprising many distinguished pro-fessionals and amateur players, besides an assemblage of citizens in general. This was the fourth trial of skill between these two noted players, the New Yorker having been the winner on each of the previous arom, and was played on a beautiful size able. Mr. Chris. O'Conner was selected impire for Goldthwaite, and E. Cahill for a CDevitt. The umpires selected Mr. oseph Dion, the celebrated champion, as eight o'clock, when the betting became pretty brisk, the odds being in favor of McDevitt. One gentleman offered $400 in gold to $500 in gold in favor of Goldthwaite. It was accepted. The play was not very brilliant up to nine o'clock, when the count stood—Goldthwaite, 451; McDevitt, 201.

McDevitt showed great nervousness, while Goldthwaite was perfectly cool, self-possessed, and steady. On the twenty-seventh score Goldthwaite was 511 and McDevitt 230. Goldthwaite's highest run so far was 127, and McDevitt's 52. On the thirty-sixth count the play was— Goldthwaite, 567; McDevitt, 316—the lat-score had been played, and Goldthwaite was 917, 507 ahead of McDevitt. The bet-ting changed at this stage of the game in favor of Goldthwaite, whose friends become very sanguine and very bold in their offers. On the fifty-third score McDevitt ran 80, and subsequently 63, 25 and 43. 63, after which an intermission of ten minutes was taken. The state of thegame at this time was—Goldthwaite, 1,059; Mc-Devitt, 790—the former being 359 ahead. On the seventieth inning Goldthwaite got e balls together and nursed them skill until he ran 199. On the seventy-inning Goldthwaite was 1,372 and witt 806, the former 566 ahead, and passed to only 12. McDevitt from this out the played with little spirit until the eighty-eighth inning, when he made a splendid run of 219, the game being then—Gold-thwaite, 1,491; McDevitt, 1,083. The utmost excitement now prevailed, as Gold-thwaite only lacked 9 of the game, while McDevitt was behind 407. It was generally believed that McDevitt would make another his way and win and the whole with the hollow who had slept for months in the hollow iron pipes of the new Harlem bridge. It can do the radical party no good for Congress to undertake to force the nstitutional amendment upon the South and the country by assuming that the ratification of only the represented States is needed. The radicals themselves know that such an assumption, if made, will be false and absurd. That they know this is evident from the great anxiety they have exhibited to obtain the ratification of the unrepresented States. Do they not show themselves in an utterly ridiculous light, when, after having sought in all possible ways for months to induce Southern ratification, they turn around in their bitter disappointment and swear that Southern ratification is a matter of no conse quence? Do they not in this make fools of themselves in the face of all the world?

The amendment, if ratified only by the represented States, can at any rate be but a temporary thing. There can be nothing fixed or permanent about it. Imposed upon the country in a mode uncognized in any part of our history and at variance with the convictions that our people have ever entertained, it can stand only while the radical faction bears sway and only while that faction remains subject to its present insanity. Let a party opposed to the amendment or opposed to the manner of its pretended ratification attain to power, or even let the present radical party or faction come to its senses, and the amendment will be at once annulled. The Southern States, if ever allowed to be heard at the polls at all, will repudiate unanimously and with scorp an amendment in regard to which they had no voice, and all the Northern conservatives, constituting, with the Southern conservatives, a national majority of a million, will also repudiate it unanimously and with scorn. No change in the Constitution, accomplished unconstitutionally, can subserve anything better than a transient, unworthy, and unpatriotic pur-

If the great desire of the radicals is to add to the causes of agitation and strife, to give their whole strength to the continued exile of peace from the country, they may to a certain extent effect the object by their pseudo-ratification of the proposed effect thereby no object less mischievous

The Chicago Republican Company was called upon yesterday by a committee of ladies of the Southern Orphans Relief Association, for a contribution to build a home for destitute children of deceased Confederate soldiers. We response ceased Confederate soldiers. We responded liberally, with a contribution of five hundred dollars in Confederate currency. We hope the people of Chicago generally, and without distinction of party, will display a like liberality. Above all, let us regard the feelings of these noble recipients too chivalrously to offend them by the offer of greenbacks.—Chicago Republican

The "Chicago Republican Company' consists of men of wealth who claim prominent positions as citizens. Their nduct, so boastfully referred to by their own paper, in the paragraph above was shameful to the last degree. It was outrageous. It was infamous. It should cause them to be ruled out of respectable Look at the case. The South, ravaged, desolated, ruined, deprived of the labor upon which she has depended, and hard essed, from inability to raise crops, for the barest necessaries of life, is filled with poor orphans. Upon them rest none of the responsibilities but many of the most distressing of the consequences of the war. Thousands of them weep daily and nightly for bread. A considerable numer of the most respectable ladies of the South, moved by distresses which they have not the means to relieve, organize a "Southern Orphans' Relief Association' for the purpose of building a home for the children of deceased Confederate soldiers.

The ladies of the Association, deeming, that, in sympathy with the orphan, the ladies in some cities outside of the ten exiled States to ask contributions tuting one of the committees call upon the he is an unmixed ass. And the Company, forgetting all human obligation to the miseries of the belpless and all respect for ladies and all self-respect, actually make sport of, jeer, taunt, insult, mock the applicants by the gift of a Confederate note, and then, through the columns of their paper, boast to the world of the low, insolent, heartless, and atrocious deed.

They must themselves do sometive. They must themselves do sometive. They must themselves, the mostly of sometive thing to change the current of popular sentiment in the North, or they must prepare to sometive. They must themselves, do sometive. We published on Saturday a Washington despatch announcing that the Supreme Court has decided that the testoath is unconstitutional. The case bethe right of an Attorney-at-law to practice in the Federal courts without having taken that oath. The decision will prob- cant" too? ably be promulgated officially to-day.

This decision is important. We hope that the principle enunciated by the Court settles the unconstitutionality of the test-oath in regard not only to lawyers, but all other classes and all individuals from whom the law of Congress provides that it shall be required. Such odious and aggravating vestiges of the war can-

We especially hope that the principle involved in the Court's decision applies to the test-oath demanded of Southern men as a condition of their admission to seats in Congress. And yet we have no thought that any judicial annulment of the oath now required of them can have the effect of securing to them the places to which they are entitled. If the radicals of Congress cannot rule out Southern men upon one ground, they will upon another. They will not be at a moment's loss for the means of doing anything

The radical organs ask why Presipeace. dent Johnson did not talk in his message in the same style as in his speeches during his late tour. The President can ap- But it won't be an appropriate appropr eciate the difference between an Executive message and a stump-speech. But he radical members of the Senate and House of Representatives show that they can't appreciate the difference between Congressional and stump-speeches. The defeated radical candidates for Congress in Maryland have applied to that body to give them the seats of their successful competitors. Congress will no If any radical anywhere wants any Conservative's seat in Congress, all that he has to do is to apply.

It was also determined (in the radical eaucus) that when a nominee is rejected by the Senate the former appointee shall esume the office and be entitled to the

We were not aware that such a deternination was arrived at in the radical caucus, but, as the Bulletin is a leading radical organ, we presume that its statement on the subject is correct. So the radical plan is that in all cases, where persons appointed by the President to offices during the recess are rejected by the Senate, the former incumbents shall resume their places and be entitled to back pay and emoluments just as if they had not been superseded. Now it is certain that the President's appointees, no matter whether rejected by the Senate or not, must have pay for the time of their continuance in office. To deny them pay would be fraud, it would be swindling, it would be knavery, it would be robbery. Of course the import of the radical caucus's determination is that two sets of individuals shall have pay and emoluments on account of the same offices for the same time-the superseded by him. This promises to be set appointed by the President and the set a spick-and-span new achievement in radical economy. We see well enough how to get at the amount of pay that the office-holders, superseded by the President, would be entitled to receive if they had been continued in office, but how is anybody to get at the sum of their "emoluments"?

have supposed "pay" to be all that the Government recognizes. "Emoluments" depend chiefly upon the officer's skill, tact, shrewdness, slight-of-hand, and conscience-or the lack of it. If the radical decree be carried out, who shall be the Committee on "emoluments"-the "emoluments" that might, could, or would have Suppose Col. Forney, the Clerk of the Senate, were to be out of his office six months, and a radical Congress should vote him the "pay and emoluments" that he would have received if he hadn't been out at all. Who under heaven but Forney himself could compute the "emoluments" The "emoluments" or perquisites would be to the pay as double-joes to farthings! A bill was got up in the House of Representatives, on the very first day of the session, to take from the President the appointment of all revenue officers and give the appointing power to Chief Justice French Chase. There is not the least sense or constitutional amendment, but they can appropriateness in such a bill. The revenue service is entirely foreign to the Chief Justice's duties. There is no conection between the revenue service and the judicial service. The radicals make their preposterous proposition simply because President Johnson is a conservative and Judge Chase a radical. They live from day to day upon expedients. They can't look to the future. They don't consider that we may by and by have another President and another Chief Justice, and that they may then prefer that the appointment of revenue officers should belong where it now does. They would upet everything to gratify a momentary feeling. They would burn a house to roast their eggs.

Certainly President Johnson has no desire to be troubled with the business of appointing revenue officers. The possession of the power of appointment causes him to be annoyed and harrassed almost to death by continued and pertinacious apications and impertunities, and is to him a source of political weakness and not of strength. And most assuredly the Chief Justice cannot desire that the troublesome prerogative shall be transferred to him. Indeed it would be especially improper that it should be transferred to him, for in that case he might, as Chief Justice, have to sit in judgment upon his

The subject of the repairs of the court house was first taken up, whereupon Mr Dent called for the reading of the indenture of 1856, entered into between the city and county, in regard to said building, which was read.

Mr. Wilson then made a comparative statement of the valuation of taxable property, the number of white males over

Mr. Wilson then moved that the above be made the basis of the division of the joint incidental annual expenses.

The motion was then made in the following form: That the tithables of the city and county for 1866 be made the basis of division of Court-house expenses, including repairs of the same. Adopted. It was then moved that the expenses of the jail, including repairing, rebuilding, or remodeling, be divided on the same basis, which was withdrawn and the foling substituted: That an architect be yed to examine the jail and report what is necessary to be done in regard to the same, and that the expenses of his services be paid jointly, as per agreement.

Mr. Stancliffe was then appointed. It was then moved to adjourn to meet again on the 16th, at Il o'clock A. M. Adopted TREMENDOUS BEAT .- Our old friend Thompson, of Shepherdsville, must stand a little back. His beat is beaten and the beater is Dr. P. Thornberry, who lives two and a half miles south of Louisville. OBITUARY .- On Wednesday last, the 5th inst., there passed from earth one of the oldest and most public-spirited of our fellow-citizens, Mr. John Simm. He was born in Hesse-Darmstadt, Germany, on the 22d of October, 313. He emigrated twenty-one years of age, and of voters, to this country when very young, and at once engaged in mercantile pursuits, in which he met with great success. Although meeting with the loss of one of the finest business houses in the city, his energy surmounted the discouragement of moment, and, by the most strenuous efforts, a new building soon rose above the ashes of the old. In point of enterprise in planning and vigor executing he had no superiors in the city. To those with whom he became acquainted and who were worthy he was always known and acknowledged as a firm and a true friend. Assisting the needy and encouraging with aid those who were struggling, he left the world to be remembered among many for his honesty and his philanthropy. Among our citi-privateers.

It was suggested to get command of the Queen City, Baltimore and Scotia, belonging respectively to the National, Inman and Cunard lines. This is to be accomplished by introducing the right men among the crews; sufficient inducements being offered to the crews which come over o leave the vessels, in order that their be supplied by picked men om the Fenians.

Organizations in connection with this art of the plan are that all available pasges on board of steamers are to be taken for members of the order, and the available room allowed for freight is to be used for arms and ammunition to be introduced as the personal baggage of passengers. In order to prevent as far as positive of the control of the con sible effusion of blood it is proposed to seize vessels at night when opposition of commanders would be likely to be less effective. When once under the control of Fenians the vessels can be easily transferred into privateers, and would be exceedingly formidable, being swift, well proportioned, and well supplied with arms. In case it is found impossible to make reprisals the vessels are to steam into port under English colors and disembark the passengers with directions to join different circles now in secret progress in England and Ireland. This a brief outline of this daring movement. As to its ultimate seize vessels at night when opp

The desire for the repeal of the thirteenth section of the amnesty act is abating in view of the fact that nineteentwentieths of the property affected has already been restored to the Southern owners, which restoration cannot now be disturbed. The repeal would only affect a few prominent rebels now absent from the country and own but little to be confiscated. It will be contended by several Senators that its repeal will tend to dis turb confidence, embarrass industry, an hazard loss to Northern creditors o Southern merchants.

The Last Revolutionary Pen-The Commissioner of Pensions, Mr. Barret, in his report to Congress thus alludes to the last Revolutionary pensioner.

Only one of the soldiers of the Revolution whose names are inscribed on the pension rolls is now living—Samuel Downing, of Edinburg, Saratoga county, New York. This veteran, distinguished by fortune as the last known survivor of the heroic men who achieved by arms our national independence, enlisted from Carroll county, New Hampshire, and is now more than one hundred years old. At the close of the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1861, there were sixty-three officers and soldiers of the Revolution, whose names still appear on the returns of payments made by the pension agents. Of this number only fourteen resided in the States then in insurrection. No one of the lastmentioned pensioners has claimed his pension, and it is reasonably presumed that all had deceased before the authority of the Federal Government was fully reof the Federal Government was fully restored in those States. Of the forty-nine stored in those States. Of the forty-fine residing in the loyal States, nearly two-fifths had disappeared from the returns for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1862, leaving but thirty survivors. Gov. Patton is recommended by his friends here as not having personally favored the adoption of the amendment at any time.

THE UNITED STATES COURT AT COVINGday we learn the trial of the suit of Joseph Howerton vs. R. B. Bowler to obtain pay for thirteen mules and horses which were run over and killed by the cars on the K. C. R. R. in the year 1862, was concluded Thursday. The Court decided that the owners of a railroad cannot be held responsible for the killing by their cars of stock which may break out of the pasture or lot where they are confined and stray upon the track. The jury was instructed o find for the defendant. The amount claimed was $1.500. The next case tried was that of Government vs. James and key and failing to keep books. The jury rendered a verdict against the defendants, and assessed their fine at $1,000 each.

Two RUFFIANS.-The Frankfort Yeoman of Saturday says that James McDaniels and James Sanderson came to town last Saturday week and got upon a spree. On their return to the country they maltreated several persons, hitting and seriously injuring one man on the top of his head. They struck the second in the side with a brick, and afterwards drew a pistol upon him. They afterwards stole the fine stallion Elkhorn, robbed a negro woman. and beat a negro man with a stick, from the effects of which we have heard that he died. These outlaws are still at large, and it is to be hoped that no means will be spared to secure their arrest and bring them to condign punishment.

THE TENNESSEE GOLD MEDAL FOR GEN. THOMAS .- It is three inches in diameter, and weighs one pound Troy. Upon the face is a profile in bas relief of General Thomas, with this inscription: "To Major-General Thomas, from the State of Tennessee." The reverse bears a repreville. Above this are the well-known words of General Thomas, referring to his ability to hold Chattanooga: "We will hold the town till we starve." Underneath is this: "By joint resolution, adopted November 2, 1865."

Dickens' Christmas story for this year, "Mugby Junction," is given to the American public a week in advance of its publication in England. It consists of eight stories, of which "Barbox Brothers," "Barbox Brothers & Co.," "The Boy a Mugby," and the "Signal Man," are by Dickens himself. "The Engine Driver, by Andrew Halliday; "The Compensation House," by Charles Collins; "The travelling Post-office," by Hesba Stretton, and "The Engineer," by Amelia B. Edwards, are the other stories of the number.

It will be seen by an advertisem in our paper that the drawing of the "Crosby Art Association" will take place certainly on the 21st of January. This is no swindling concern. Buyers of tickets will obtain without difficulty what their no swindling concern. Buyers of tickets will obtain without difficulty what their tickets in the drawing will entitle them to, for some of the best men, gentlemen of the highest character in Chicago, have the matter in hand, and will see everything carried out faithfully and honestly.

How Tom. Sedgwick Took SATURDAY'S DESPATCHES. Matamoras.

The World's Prownsville special gives the following additional particulars con cerning Gen. Sedgwick's movements in

The city of Matamoras was surrendered to Gen. Sedgwick, commanding the United States forces on the Rio Grande, on the evening of the 24th ult. Col. T. G. Perkins, of the 19th colored infantry was placed in command. One hundred and ighteen men of the 4th cavalry crossed ver and occupied the city on that day. The following were the terms of surrenunder the orders of the commander of the United States forces.

2. The latter guarantees to Canales and rees their liberty, and secures the safety their interests.

3. The persons and interests of all the inhabitants of Matamoras are to be re-spected, no matter to what nationality they belong. belong.

The forces of Canales are to maintain their actual position.

5. No forces shall enter the place exept those of the United States. The attack on Matamoras began at 5 o'clock A. M. on the 27th. Escobedo opened his attack, the American flag in he meantime floating from Government Brisk firing continued up to 7 o'clock, but the attack was repulsed at every point. The American forces in the city preserved peace and guarded the ferry—partially acting as provost guard. Escobedo, who is endeavoring to enforce the authority of Juarez, attributes his defeat to the march, and the effect of the presence of the Americans. He claims that orders were torwarded to Gen. Sedgwick from Washington to afford him all the assistance forwarded to Gen. Sedgwick from Wash-ington to afford him all the assistance which he might require in sustaining the authority of Juarez, and that instead of doing it he has assisted Canales, who is in case to fire on Escobedo's men, immediately made arrangements to withdraw with the army in case he should be attacked. The following is a memorandum of the

The Crosby Art Union Scheme -What is Needed to Make its Success Complete.

The following is from the hay Times, and we cheerfully give it a place in our columns:

It has already been announced in these columns, by the official card of the committee, that the distribution of the premiums of the association will be made by them on the 21st of January next, and the announcement has no doubt gratified a great many people. The honor as well as the interest of Chicago is so concerned in the result of this gigantis oscheme, that the certainty of its success is a matter for congratulation, and, in view of the grand proportions of the enterprise, of not a little pride.

There is, however, danger that, while felicitating ourselves on the accomplished on the K.

Jaded

There is, however, danger that, while felicitating ourselves on the accomplished success of the scheme, we may overlook a fact that the association is a success to fact that the association is a success of internal revenue to day.

A Mr. Crosby's

Total amount issueu.

From this amount sufficient number of certificates have been sold to pay the minimum value of the property, and the arrangements for its conveyance are now final. But, as all know, the object of the association was not to dispose of the Opera-house at its lowest cash value, but at its cost. If Mr. Crosby is to realize any pecuniary benefit from the art association, the remaining rom the art association, the remaining certificates must be not only disposed of, but that speedily.

The time required for the enterprise has extended far beyond that calculated, and the prolonged outlay has been greatly increased by the processits of concepts. the protonged outlay has been greatly in-creased by the necessity of overcoming at every step the prejudice excited abroad by all sorts of swinding sebemes. The ex-penses have consequently largely exceed-ed the original estimates, and, as a matter of course, proportionately reduced the chances of a surplus.

There are hundreds of people in this city yet, who intend buying certificates before the close, and there are hundreds who have bought, who design to buy more before the drawing. Now, to those it cau, not make the slightest difference whether before the drawing. Now, to those it cannot make the slightest difference whether they take their certificates this week or four weeks hence; but if those and such as those throughout the country could be brought to realize that upon the fact whether they shall buy their certificates a few weeks earlier or later actually depends Mr. Crosby's sole chance of realizing any personal advantage whatever from this great undertaking, surely none would longer delay. We learn that some of our business men, who practically understand this, are organizing the different business which will hold a large number of cer-

We believe it is only necessary that it of action in this matter to have the work heartily and cheerfully done.

Another of Daniel Webster's afterdinner speeches, almost as good as his speech, in which, drawing out his pocketbook, he declared that the national debt must be paid-he would pay it himself, is related. It was made at Rochester, New York. He said:

Men of Rochester, I am glad to see you, and I am glad to see you noble city. Gentlemen, I saw your Falls, which, I am told, are one hundred and fifty feet high. That is a very interesting fact. Gentlemen, Rome had her Casar, her Scipio, her Brutus; but Rome, in her proudest days, had never a waterfall one hundred and fifty feet high! Gentlemen, Greece had her Pericles, her Demosthenes, and her Socrates; but Greece, in her palmiest days, never had a waterfall a hundred and fifty feet high! Men of Rochester, go on. No people ever lost their liberties who had a waterfall a hundred and fifty feet high!

Washington, Dec. 8. No official information has been receive ed by the Government in reference to the occupation of Matamoras by Sedgwick. The last official information of the affair was in a letter from General Sheridan, anwas in a letter from General Sheridan, an-nouncing his intention to proceed to Brownsville and relieve General Sedgwick from command if he had so far exceeded his authority as to take possession of the city. Orders emanated from headquarters

All that has been done by Gen. Sheridan is approved, who at latest accounts was at Brownsville.

A letter from the rebel General Hindman, dated Cordova, Mexico, has been received by the President asking Executive pardon. The letter gives a doleful account of his health and situation. It is not probable that a pardon will be granted, although Hindman may be paroled with permission to return to the United States under certain restrictions.

The account telegraphed North of the bursting of hydrostatic presses in the Treasury Department is a gross exaggeration of a single accident. The accident bearing bonds of the United States. The whole subject of finances will be taken up by the Ways and Means committee, also the repeal of the tax on cotton, which is being powerfully urged. There is reason to believe that Congress will be induced to order the tax to be repealed. It seems to be do of the continued friendship of the United States Government toward himself and the Liberal Government. Second—The American commander considers himself as morally holding the city of Matamoras under the terms of Canales's surrender of that place to him, but it is for no hostile purpose with regard to the forces commanded by Escobedo, but to protect the lives and property of American and other citizens. Third—That the American commander will withdraw the armed force in case an attack is made, with the exception of fifty men and officers, who will report their presence to General Escobedo should he capture the city. Fourth—That the United States forces shall hold Santa Cruz and the ferry, and that no armed men shall cross to the American shore.

This agreement had not been made known to Colonel Randall when he sent out the flag of truce. General Sedgwick's action is incomprehensible. It seems as if he intended first to take possession of the city and then eventually hand it over to Escobedo, and afterwards changed his mind and held the city to protect American citizens and other foreigners.

Humors are prevalent that a series of forgeries, perpetrated by a clerk of the Third Auditor's office, have been discovered. It is said that the clerk implicated has indorsed as correct disallowed claims, and claims rejected by the proper account. This came to a merchant in this city and drew money. The amount of the forgeries is about $2,000, as far as has been ascertained. Most of the claims of the culprit.

In the case of Conover, upon arguments of the demurrer to indictment, this morning, Sanford Conover alias Charles A. Dunham, indicted for perjury in connection with the conspiracy trials, was brought into court before Judge Fisher. The accused is quite a fine looking man, apparently 25 or 28 years old, nearly, if not quite 6 feet high, oval face, black eyes, and dark hair. Mr. Gooding, for the prisoner, after a brief history of the case, proceeded to argue the demurrer to the indictment filed yesterday, taking the following grounds:

proceeded to argue the demand the following grounds:

First—The issue on which the evidence of the defendant was given was an immaterial issue. The so-called depositions were not depositions—were not affidavits even. The Judge-Advocate, Gen. Holt, false it would not have supported the charge of perjury, and therefore anything said as to their truth or falsity would not support the charge. The said depositions were never sworn to and could not be evidence. The defendant was sworn to testify as to the truth or falsity of said depositions, and as to the truth or falsity of said depositions, and as to the truth or falsity of said depositions, and as to the truth or falsity of said depositions, and as to the truth or falsity of said depositions, and as to the truth or falsity of said depositions, and as to the truth or falsity of said depositions, and as to the truth or falsity of said depositions, and as to the truth or falsity of said depositions, and seems the solutions and saturated to the inquiry authorized to be made.

Second—Admitting said depositions were proper and legitimate, the evidence were proper and legitimate, the e immaterial to the inquiry authorized to be made.

Second—Admitting said depositions were proper and legitimate, the evidence to the court does not expressly state that they were admitted as evidence on inquiry, pending which omission cannot be supplied by indictment.

Third—The first and second arguments of perjury are repugnant, the first alleging that defendant denies it in the main.

Fourth—As to the second assignment defendant says, in substance, that part of Hare's statement is true and part not true. The indictment should set out the part about which the false statement is made, for certainly both the first and second questions are too general to support the charge of perjury.

questions are too general to support the charge of perjury.

Fith—That defendant has reason to doubt, or does doubt, is immaterial as an abstract question. The fact that the answer forestalls further inquiry into the fact does not make it perjury. His doubts and reasons to doubt in matters of personal opinion, not even professional opinion, which alone is admissable as evidence, and in which results are seldom if ever and in which perjury can seldom, if ever, be sustained.
